Update

We have been sending letters home with the children who have less than 96% attendance since the start of the new school year.

Please contact us if you would like to discuss your child's attendance as we are always here to support.

The letter will outline the possibility of a fixed penalty notice being issued if your child's attendance continues to be of concern (below 96%).

There is clear evidence of a link between poor attendance at school and low levels of achievement. We want all of our pupils to achieve academically and are working hard toward this.

There are now direct contact numbers for your attendance officer:
